

Mairyll Keith Pacarat
mairyllpacarat@gmail.com

"My Experience of Overcoming Conflict"

In a world of happiness I found a guy. This is my experience in overcoming conflict with my boyfriend. Way back in 2021, a man chatted with me, then talked about life, then our chat went to fling², we were both happy, going out together, having fun, and talking about our future goals together and our happy memories together, but 3 months after he cheated on me, then I found out in a notification on Facebook , I tell him why did you do that to me, he said sorry and he said it was a friends then okay I forgive you, our communication was happy, I chat to him and tell can we meet and talk about us, then he said yes we can meet, we're so happy that time then when I was in school my classmate told me that the guy that I love has a girl then he myday on another account then I chat the guy, and tell him why did you do this to me, I give u everything, I don't chat another guy because I am loyal to you but why!! I tell my classmate that I don't trust you because I love him so much.

Then I forgive him. Months later, I found out he was chatting with another girl on Facebook. Then I chatted with him and said, Let's stop this communication. I'm tired of you. Because of how many chances I gave you, you did it again and hurt my feelings. Then I realized I had hurt myself so much because I loved you. Then, months later, he chatted and said, Can we go back to the first place. I said yes because I love you. I tell him, please don't do it again. Don't break my heart again. I give you so many chances just to prove to you that I love you.

Then he changed just to prove to me that he would not do what he did before. Our communication was good. After that, my birthday is coming. I tell him I will introduce you to my family when I'm of legal age, but he fails because I found out again that he chatted with another girl on his first account, and I found out that me and him chatted on his second account. It hurt so much that I cried because of all his lies. I give him everything that I can, I never cheated on him just to feel that he's worthy and enough.

This experience made me realize the purpose of life and living in this world. For me, making decisions is one of the most important aspects of life because it will bring us to the right decision. I learned that you shouldn't give up because, at the end of the day, you will get hurt. To overcome this conflict, we must tell ourselves that this isn't good for us. We must think about our goals first before doing these things, and we must achieve our future plans and things that we want to achieve. We must think of all the sacrifices made by our parents just to give us the life that we want. We must pay for all of their hard work just to make us feel the life that we wanted. We must make our parents proud. This experience and learning is already applied in my own life.